This seminal paper introduced the temporal constraint satisfaction problem (TCSP), for quantitative temporal reasoning. The TCSP, and the polytime solvable special case of simple (non-disjunctive) temporal problems, have gained widespread use in planning & scheduling and other applications. The simple and elegant problem formulation of this paper also inspired subsequent work on temporal reasoning with temporal uncertainty, preferences, and other extensions.

Patrick Doherty

Sylvie Thiébaux

Editor-in-Chief

Editor-in-Chief